

Aida Lebbos joined SURA as general counsel in August 2022. Prior to joining SURA, Ms. Lebbos was the Associate Vice President for Institutional Compliance & Risk with the University of Maryland Global Campus, where she oversaw enterprise risk management, information governance, policy and data privacy programs, as well as general compliance.

She also brings eleven years of experience as in-house legal counsel for the Henry M. Jackson Foundation for the Advancement of Military Medicine, Inc., where she advised on general corporate governance, federal contracts and assistance agreements, regulatory, labor and employment, intellectual property, technology transfer, ethics and compliance, international operations, and litigation.

Ms. Lebbos is a graduate of Duke University, where she majored in political science and interned with Duke's Sanford School of Public Policy. She received her law degree, with honors, from the University of Baltimore with highest grade honors in Law & Economics and Professional Responsibility. She completed a graduate certification program in corporate compliance & ethics and is also a graduate of the Association for Corporate Counsel's National Capital Region Leadership Academy.

Aida M. Lebbos

SURA General Counsel
JSA Board of Directors